Swiss Tips Good ideas and information about Switzerland from travellers.

● In a blizzard in Bergün? The new museum and tourist service centre at Bergün station which opened had, last December, already started a small rustic 'buffer' serving drinks and a more extensive menu. It has room to sit down and see the trains. This is good for sledge riders (the Schlittelzug to Preda starts across the yard) and those who have already put that thrill behind them. The traditional Gerstensuppe is to be recommended as a winter warmer. When Swiss News editor Bryan, accompanied by Bramble visited (in a blizzard), he found that SRS Members Aubrey and Jane had already discovered this facility.

● Going to a winter sports resort in the summer? To attract visitors in their 'off season' several Swiss resorts offer guest cards to visitors staying in hotels, giving free travel on local transport facilities. For example in the Villars – Les Diablerets area this is known as the 'Free Access Card'. The most valuable facility with this is free travel on the Villars-Col de Bretaye section of the Bex – Villars – Bretaye line, which is normally very expensive. Short sections of the BVB as far as Gryon, and the Aigle – Sepey – Diablerets line as far as Les Aviolats are also included. Another useful feature is the Summer only bus between Villars and Les Diablerets (mid-June to mid-September, three journeys/day), which is the only public transport link between the top ends of the BVB and ASD.
