Fotocollettivo is an experimental group formed by Shen He, Gionata Buzzi, Pierre Marmy and Giuseppe Allegrì in 2021. They work with images found on old boards that carry reminiscences of an opulent technological past. Their function has often been assimilated to the séance and other esoteric practices. Each board is characterised by a predefined set of words and symbols. To set into communication with the higher dimension, insiders held them in their hands and laid their eyes on the screens. The elaborate semantic sequences generated by involuntary finger taps were considered omens for interpreting the world.
