The Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Paris has issued a communiqué on the state of the Franco-Swiss discussions, begun here on Wednesday, and to be resumed after Easter, of which the following is a comment is a summarv :-

The conversations have also covered other questions on which the French Government has declared its desire to satisfy Swiss desires. M. The representative of the Swiss Federal Government, M. Schulthes, has agreed to place this proposal before his Government. M. Tardisu and M. Schul-thess agree that such a provisional agreement could neither modify nor delay the judicial pro-cess on Free Zones now before The Hague Court.

THE FRANCO-SWISS FREE ZONES.

Further negotiations for a settlement of the dispute about the Franco-Swiss free zones began in Paris between M. Tardieu, the Prime Minister, with the Ministers of Finance and Commerce, on the one hand, and Herr Schulthess, the Vice-President of the Swiss Federal Government, with Herr Stucki, Director of Commercial Agreements, or the other and accuration of feature of the starts on the other. A communique issued from the Quai d'Orsay makes it clear that both parties wish to extend the discussion over the whole field of economic relations and to reach, if possible, a satisfactory agreement covering trade in general.

Monsieur Ferd, von Salis, Swiss Minister for Rumania, Greece and Yugo-Slavia has tendered his resignation to the Federal Council. M. von Salis is a native of Soglio (Grisons), and is re-riding at Durareat siding at Bucarest. Rumours of the imminent resignation of Dr. Rüfenacht, Swiss Minister in Berlin have been Rüfenacht, Swiss Minister in Berlin nave oeen eurrent in Parliamentary and Diplomatic circles. The rumours have not been confirmed nor con-tradicted, and it is a well-known fact that the health of our Minister in Berlin has not been too and available to avarage the Berlin has not been too good, owing to overwork. Should Dr. Rüfenacht retire from his post, Switzerland would lose in him one of her most able diplomats, and one who enjoys a great reputation in the German Capital.

RAIL V. ROAD.

At the opening of the motor show in Geneva, an important official pronouncement was made on rail and road competition. Swiss railways, it was stated, could not be allowed to drift into deficit, as they represented one-sixth of the national capital. they represented one-sixth of the national capital. Freight and passenger rates could not be in-creased, the only alternative was, accordingly, to check the shifting of traffic from rail to road. But compulsory steps against road traffic were diffi-cult. Railways would probably find salvation in healthy competition if they were freed from the legislative shackles which had been the counter-part of their past monopoly.

SWISS COIN FETCHES £180.

The "gold rush" has brought to light the existence of a rare Swiss 17-ducat piece of the 17th century which was sold at a London saleroom.

Nothing is known about the coin, but experts from Switzerland, Berlin, and Paris came to London to see it. It was among a lot of gold articles which were to be consigned to the melting pot. It was sent to experts for examination and found to be a rarity. The value of the gold in it is about f8 about £8. To day ten experts were anxious to obtain the coin, which bears a view of Berne. Starting at £50, there was an exciting duel of "Fives," and the hammer did not fall until £180 was reached.

GENEVA.

M. Paul Pictet, former President of the Grand Council, and a fervent partisan of the Zone Dispute has celebrated his 70th birthday.

The Disarmament Conference has at least had the effect of providing Geneva with distinguished audiences for distinguished theatrical fare, and the "Association of the Interests of Geneva" has taken full advantage of the occasion to present a number of excellent operatic performances, of which those given by the Scala company of Milan have been easily the most popular. The operas performed were "The Barber of Seville," "La Tosca," "Rigoletto," and "The Secret Marriage," and it must have been a matter of great satisfaction to the hundreds of delegates who have met from all corners of the world to hear them in the tongue in which they were writ-ten and sung by perhaps the greatest exponents of ten and sung by perhaps the greatest exponents of operatic art.

The Grand Theatre, at which these perfor-mances are being given, has an interesting history. Many years ago, the Duke of Brunswick, in a fit of pique against his own countrymen, made a will, leaving his money to Geneva for the pur-

a win, leaving his money to Geneva for the pur-pose of founding a theatre. Later, in another fit of pique, this time against the Genevese, he made arrangements to have his will altered, but, fortunately for the people of Geneva, he died before he could put this into effect.

this into effect. The theatre, which is after the style of the Paris Opera, has large and ornate salons hung with red plush curtains and magnificent chan-deliers in the best opera house fashion, and these salons have, during the last few weeks, seen the most celebrated statesmen in the world. The brilliance of the salons during the long intervals is easy to imagine, for there is one long promenade of magnificently gowned and jewelled women, accompanied by diplomats of every race. Possibly in no one place in the world could such a gathering be seen excent in Geneva.

TICINO.

At Lugano and the neighbouring villages the tocsin had to be sounded on account of a forest, fire which broke out at the foot of Monte Bré, near the little village of Gandria, on Lake Lugano, well known to all tourists. Flames, swept upwards by a tempestuous wind, devastated orchards, vineyards, and forest land, and threat-ened to destroy the numerous hamlets and private villas which are dotted over the mountain side. Villagers who hastened from all sides man-aged to arrest the fire by cutting down trees on a wide belt and digging a trench.
