FEDERAL.

DECLARATION OF THE SWISS GOVERNMENT.

The Swiss Parliament assembled last Monday for its customary Spring session in Berne.

On this occasion a declaration by the Swiss Federal Council, dealing with the recent events in Austria, was read out by M. Baumann, President of the Swiss Confederation, in German, by Federal-Councillor M. Pilet-Golaz, in French, and by Federal-Councillor M. Motta in Italian.

The statement of the Government has met The statement of the Government has met with the unanimous approval of the various parliamentary groups; its content is, what was expected, calm but firm. It says that the integrity of the State is at present not menaced by any-body, and points out that our democratic institutions are the fundamental principle on which the Confederation and its twenty-two cautons rely Confederation and its twenty-two cantons rely

The Federal-Council trust, it says, on the assurances given by the German Chancellor and the head of the Italian Government, regarding the inviolability of Swiss neutrality.

It points out, however, that the Confedera the common ont, nowever, that the Common tron does not base its existence alone on promises; men come and go, circumstances might change, it says, that a nation, however small, must rely on its own resources, on its own strength and its own iron determination for protecting its inde-

The Federal-Council further refers to the necessity to achieve again complete military and economic neutrality, in view of the fact that large states and neighbours of Switzerland do not belong anymore to the League of Nations.

The government of the Confederation exhorts the country to unity and sacrifices, if necessary, this appeal is not only directed to political parties but to each individual.

The declaration made a deep impression on the members of the two Chambers; the public galleries were crowded, and a great number of Foreign diplomats were present. The govern-mental benches were occupied by all the members of the Federal Council.

A resolution was read out by the heads of the various parties represented in the Federal Chambers, which declared, that the entire Swiss Confederation, without distinction of language, confession or party is determined to defend its independence against any aggressor to the last drop of blood.

SOLEMN DECLARATION BY THE SWISS GOVERNMENT.

We give below a translation of the declaration which was made in the Swiss Parliament by members of the Swiss Government:

"On March 13th the Federal Austrian "On March 13th the Federal Austrian State, with which Switzerland had cordial relations as a neighbour, ceased to exist as an independent State. This historic event, which happened before our eyes, is one of far-reaching importance. The desire to unite the peoples of Germany and Austria was no new aspiration. Last century it led indeed to armed struggles. That wish has now triumphed.

"The Federal Council realises the emotion which has filled our people and it takes the opportunity offered by the reunion in ordinary public opinion and to sweep away unfounded fears. The change which the political map of Europe has undergone in the last few days cannot result in a weakening of the political situation of Switzerland. The independence and neutrality of Switzerland stand out more than ever as indispensable to the maintenance of European equilibrium. Solemn assurances in this connection have been given to us from all sides. Their value cannot be questioned.

" None of our three neighbours can either desire or welcome the disappearance of Switzerland, none of them threatens our democratic institutions, which form one of the essential reasons of existence of this Confederation. Switzerland's wordly mission in Europe is to guard all the passes of the Alps, Switzerland shelters and protects the vital parts of the frontiers of her neighbours. The desire of the Swiss people to carry out this mission and to keep their independence at the cost of shed-ding their blood is unanimous and unshakable.

"Switzerland holds herself aloof from foreign quarrels. Any attack against the integrity of our territory would be an abominable crime against the law of nations.

"There is no doubt as to the lesson to be drawn from these events. Our efforts to have our complete neutrality recognised must be continued and brought to fruition. Any possible doubt on this or this explaint with he ways and Western the continued and brought to fruition. ble doubt on this subject must be removed. We must also strive to enjoy correct and friendly relations with each of our neighbours and to the same extent. The struggle going on abroad between opposing political systems does not concern our State. Every nation is free to choose its own internal regime.

"The Swiss people are united, and would keep united in their will to defend at all costs against any opponent and to their last breath the peerless Fatherland which God has given them. Let us learn in these troubled times to concentrate more than ever on the mission which Providence has assigned to us. Let us prove that a democracy like ours is a working regime of liberty and that nothing can shake the solidity of our Federal ties."

goal and that settled the matter.

An even more dramatic game was seen in Bern. Servette established a useful 2:0 lead in the first half, increased it to 3:0 only to find Lugano, with the wind in their favour, getting at last into their stride and wiping out that winders are the graphs against within a at last into their stride and wiping out that winning advantage of three goals against within a hectic 25 minutes. Extra time followed. In the first 15 minutes Servette restore their lead, only to see Lugano level the score once again. The teams change ends, both having given of their best, both are almost exhausted, both deserve a replay. But five minutes before the end the referee awards Servette a penalty for hands. A free kick hit the leg of a Luganesi, whence it struck his hand, and the decision was a penalty! Trello had no trouble to convert and thus Servette became this year's finalists, to meet Grasshoppers on Easter Monday, probably in Bern. By the way, Trello, so well known with Grasshoppers, has returned from France where he played for F.C. Sochaux, the Peugeot team, has joined Servette. If he is still the Trello of old, he should be welcome in our national eleven.
