THE INTERNATIONAL SITUATION AS SEEN ABROAD.

Back from a trip on the Continent where in Paris, Marseilles, Nice, Geneva, Lausanne and Berne I had the opportunity of speaking with people of all classes on the international situation — as seen by them — it might interest readers of the Swiss Observer to know what my impressions are after these conversations. are after these conversations.

Firstly, I was struck by the note of optimism and confidence on the other side of the Channel.

In France, a close analysis of the challer, so different from the atmosphere of discourage-ment and defeatism prevailing after the Munich "agreement." when France found a belated con-solation in her empire, showed that it was actuated by the following facts:

(1) growing consciousness of the military strength and present unity of France;

- the introduction of conscription in Great Britain, coupled with the gigantic rearmament programme ;
- (3) the coalition of European powers now pre-pared to stem further aggression in Europe;
- (4) confidence in the Poles and their army:
- (5) the conversations between France, Great Britain and Russia in view of a mutual assistance pact.

Even the nationalistic-minded Frenchman, always so suspicions of Moscow and everything Sovietic, admitted the practical uses of an alli-ance with Russia. In fact on the broad principles of French foreign policy unanimity was the keynote

Other factors which encouraged hopes of Other factors which encouraged hopes of peace were the unwillingness of Japan to be too closely associated with the Axis powers, the moral support of the U. S. A. for the democracies and continual rumours of discontent among the Italian people with the ever increasing influence of Germany in Italy's domestic affairs. These last rumours give a certain colour to the current joke that the Italian people are now restless because " they were better off under Mussolini than now under Goering."

In Geneva, I was shown a pamphlet pub-lished in Italy and which. I was told, is circu-lated in thousands to the people of Italy. This manifesto expressed in unrestrained language its disfavour at the "prussianisation" of Italy and strongly condemned the recent military pact con-cluded between the Reich and Italy.

On the Riviera I found the "meridional" spirit unchanged. In fact the Mediterranean ap-
