Federal

The Federal Council has appointed Monsieur Fernand Bernoulli to the post of Minister Plenipotentiary and Envoy Extraordinary in China, in succession to Minister C. Rezzonico, who will shortly assume another post.

Minister Bernoulli was born in Basle in 1905. He studied Philosophy at the Universities of Basle, Paris and Berne. In 1934, he entered the Diplomatic Service and was sent to the Swiss Legation in Buenos Aires, four years later (1938) he returned to Berne, where for two years he occupied a post at the Commercial Division.

In 1940, Monsieur Bernoulli was transferred to the Swiss Legation in Belgrade, and the following year to Rio de Janeiro, with the rank of Secretary of Legation, at the latter post he remained until 1951; during this time (1946) he was promoted to the rank of Counsellor of Legation. In 1951, M. Bernoulli was transferred to the Swiss Legation in Washington as 1st Counsellor of Legation, in the same year he returned to Berne as Deputy to the Head of International Organisations.

Monsieur André Boissier, has been nominated Minister Plenipotentiary and Envoy Extraordinary to Egypt, he succeeds Minister von Fischer, who has been transferred to Lisbon.

Minister Boissier hails from Geneva and was born in Paris in 1904. He studied law at the Universities of Geneva and Cambridge. He was for 10 years General Secretary of the International Chamber of Commerce in Paris. M. Boissier entered into the service of the Confederation in 1942, and occupied a post at the Swiss Legation in Washington, where he was promoted in 1946 to the rank of 1st Secretary of Legation; the following year he was transferred to Berne, and after having been made a Counsellor of Legation in 1949, was appointed Chief of the Protocol. In 1951, he was again sent to the Swiss Legation in Washington, this time as 1st Counsellor of Legation.

In March, 1954, the Swiss Federal Railways carried 18.8 million passengers, 356,000 more than in March, 1953. The receipts amounted to 24.29 million francs or 714,000 frs. more than during the same month in 1953.

Goods traffic is returned as 1.72 million tons, which is 159,000 tons more than in March, 1953. Receipts 34.01 million francs. (March, 1953: 32.70 million francs.)

During the first quarter of this year, the Swiss Foreign trade balance has again become unfavourable. This is a matter for congratulation, as Swiss trade exchanges can only stand a favourable balance quite exceptionally, otherwise there is serious risk of the financial equilibrium of the country being compromised. As a matter of fact, this unfavourable balance is only slight. Whereas, during the years which preceded the last World War; Swiss exports represented two-thirds of her imports, to-day, they still represent 90 per cent of the latter.

This change in the situation is due to a fortunate increase in imports, which surpass the level of the 1st quarter of 1953, to a considerable extent. This increase extends, more or less, to all the various branches and more particularly to that of raw materials, as well as to liquid fuel and to manufactured products. There has been a marked rise in respect of imports of motor-cars, as well as of instruments, apparatus, machinery, rubber goods and tar derivatives for the dye industry.

As for exports, these show a slight decline in comparison with the 1st quarter of 1953. They have slowed down a bit as a result of the increasing competition which prevails on the world markets. A decrease may be observed in regard to textiles in general, with the exception of cotton fabrics and embroideries. Exports of footwear, on the other hand, show an increase. A special decrease is to be noted in respect of exports of watches and of machinery, but an increase in exports of aluminium, instruments and apparatus. The decline has also affected the chemico-pharmaceutical industry and the chocolate industry.

The Swiss Government have asked the United States and Communist China to examine the possibilities of releasing the Swiss delegation from its duties in the neutral supervision commission in Korea.

5TH WORLD FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP. The final tournament will be inaugurated at Lausanne, on June 16th, before the France-Yugoslavia match. The ceremony will be simple: the President of the International Football Association Federation, Mr. Jules Rimet, will say a few words, then the President of the Swiss Confederation, Mr. Rodolphe Rubattel, will declare the competition open and, to the sound of the Swiss national anthem, the flags of the nations participating will be hoisted at the stadium.

The interest shown abroad in these championships is enormous. In the middle of March the following applications for places had already been recorded: 15,000 from Germany, 11,000 from France and Italy, 9,000 from Spain, 8,000 from Austria, 4,000 from England and Scotland. The applications from the other side of the Atlantic are particularly high if one thinks of the distance: Uruguay sends word of 11,000 visitors, Mexico 6,400, Brazil 3,000, Argentina 2,300, the United States 800, Chile 400, Canada and Bolivia 200, Haiti 50. There will be about a hundred Japanese visitors.

The excitement aroused in the countries not participating in the world tournament is also to the same degree: 1,500 visitors will come from Holland, 500 from Sweden, Finland and Portugal, 300 from Denmark and Luxembourg.

The meetings will be broadcast by the radio stations of the whole world. The sole rights for the film of the tournament have been reserved for a Swiss firm, with which the cinematographic societies will be able to arrange for the taking of photographs.

Applications by clients for tickets covering the following matches are accepted by the Swiss National Tourist Office, 458 Strand, London, W.C.2.:

June 20th — Berne: Switzerland v. England, Covered seats (stands), price: £1.6.9.; Quarter finals: June 26th — Bâle and June 27th — Berne, Lausanne, Geneva. Covered seats (stands), price: £2.0.0.; Semi-finals June 30th — Bâle. Covered seats (stands), price: £2.11.0.; Uncovered seats, price: £1.6.9.; June 30th — Lausanne Covered seats (stands), price: £2.11.0.; Finals July 3rd (loser's final) Zurich, July 4th, (final) Berne, prices not yet known.

FREEDING OF PAYMENTS FOR TRAVEL AND STAYS FOR STUDY IN SWITZERLAND. Dated the 31st of March, 1954, the press service of the E.O.E.C. published the following communication: "The residents of the member countries of the European Organisation of Economic Cooperation will more easily be able to undertake university or professional studies in other member countries and stay at the teaching establishments, thanks to new measures of freedom in the domain of invisible transactions which have just been adopted by the Council of the E.O.E.C.

Henceforth, in effect, the member countries will authorise, for a period not exceeding a year by instalments, the transfers of the sums necessary to cover the fees to be paid for study in a university, a professional college and, up to a reasonable amount, in a secondary school or primary teaching establishment. They will also authorise the transfers of the sums necessary for the payment of living expenses.

This decision constitutes real progress when compared to the former situation, for, up to now, the member countries were only called upon to treat applications for transfers as liberally as possible. The new decision obliges the freeing of transfers. It applies to all the member countries of the E.O.E.C. with the exception of, however, France, Greece, Iceland and Turkey which, either because of the deficit in their balance of payments or their economic situation, are temporarily authorised not to apply the provisions of the freedom code as concerns invisible transactions. Italy and Sweden, on the other hand, have indicated that they were not, for the moment, able to adopt this decision although exercising a very liberal policy in this domain. The position of these two countries will be reconsidered by the Council in six months.

The educational allowance granted by the Bank of England to scholars and students attending Swiss schools or universities is:

£320 per year for schools

£600 ,, ,, ,, universities.

In addition to these amounts the basic travel allowance of £50 per adult of £35 for children under 12 years may be claimed.

COMMEMORATIVE STAINED GLASS WINDOWS IN BÂLE. The Canton of Bâle became a member of the Swiss Confederation in the year 1501 and, on the occasion each of the other Confederate Cantons presented the newcomer with a fine stained glass window for the Town Hall. In 1951, when Bâle celebrated the 450th anniversary of that historic occasion, her sister Cantons repeated their gifts, so that Bâle now possesses 24 new stained glass windows bearing the Cantonal arms. To inaugurate these new windows in the Bâle Town Hall, the Bâle Government invited each of the other Cantons to send a delegate to attend the ceremony. The artists who designed the windows were also present.

THE YEAR-BOOK OF STATISTICS OF SWITZERLAND. The 61st year of this interesting work, published through the good offices of the Federal Bureau of Statistics at Berne is entirely devoted to 1952. In more than 600 pages, the most widely varied subjects are presented. It goes from the chapter on the Swiss population to that of education, passing by way of the labour market, tourism and transportation, business, industry, trades and agriculture; the various forms of insurance also have their place in these pages and it is likewise with hygiene and sport. One will study with interest the table giving, on the 31st of May 1953, the manner of election of the executive powers and the legislative authorities of the 25 cantons of the Confederation, as well as the composition of the legislative deputations in the National Council, by cantons and by parties, with a table of the respective electors. The results of the various federal votings organised in 1952 are also detailed. Several pages are devoted to international comparisons of population, production, business, the money market, the national income and transportation and communications. The evolution of the population of the continents, from 1913, is also detailed in this volume, which is a credit to the Federal Bureau of Statistics, whose contribution is always invaluable in the study of the most varied problems.

RECORD PARTICIPATION IN THE FEDERAL MARKSMANSHIP CONTEST, LAUSANNE (8th-25th JULY). The organisers of the Federal Marksmanship Contest of Lausanne have pointed out with great satisfaction that 2,149 shooting societies have sent word of their participation in the competition by group at 300 metres, and 400 will participate in the competition by group with the pistol.

This Federal Marksmanship Contest will bring together, on the basis of the present figures, 120 groups more than that of Chur (Canton Grisons), five years ago; from now on its success seems to be already largely assured, since two thirds of the shooting societies of the country will be represented.
