Ach-damn (corruption of Achtung); the hyphen indicates the moment of collision.

Ach! (abbreviation of Achtung). You will seldom have time to say more than this before (a) discovering what happens when an irresistible force meets an immovable barrier, or (b) making a sitzmark.

Sitzmark (indelicate). This is not an ejaculation, though it may be followed by some, but a gesture (ungraceful). In soft snow the sitz is silent and the mark is stressed. On hard snow the sitz is stressed and so is the mark (the latter on you!).

The rest of the Swiss language is mainly gesture. in fact —

The Telemark (an attempt on the part of the left ski to hinder the right's descent and vice-versa).

The Step Turn (or human T).

The Stem (in which you must imagine you are the tide, and try to stem it by v-ing your skis).

The Christiana (an involuntary skid, but do pretend you have done it on purpose).

The Jump (or leg-breaker).

are all gestures or semi-convulsive efforts to prevent your skis from running away with you.

Ski. There is controversy over the pronunciation of this word, some preference is shown by its victims for the harsh skee, which is more in keeping with the pain inflicted. But the majority of married Englishmen insist that the instrument is contrary and impetuous, therefore must be feminine and should be pronounced She.

Punch.

THE "CHATEAU" AT DAVOS.

(Mr. Kunzle's Children's Home.)

A castle stands, so stately,
On top of yonder hill,
Abode of serene beauty,
Home of sincere good will.
A wreath of snow-white mountains
Surround this charming spot;
It's built, to last for ever,
On solid grey-green rock.
The burgher of this castle,
Blessed with a heart of gold,
Vowed, happen whatsoever,
Old traditions to uphold.

Protect the needy little ones,
Weak children, sad and ailing;
Bestow a chance to all and one,
To overcome their failing,
And face the dreary everyday,
Armed with more strength, a part
To greet, the happy dawn of health
With sunshine in their heart.
Ever to love, with thankfulness,
Their friend, who, kind and wise,
Ignoring sacrifice and rest,
Opened this earthly paradise.

FOOTBALL.

4th February, 1934.

SWISS CUP, ROUND 4.

Grasshoppers	6	Young Fellows	1
Basel	3	Locarno	4
	(after extra time)
Servette	4	Biel	0
Montreux	4	Brühl	2

Montreux is making history. For a mere Second League Club to get into the Semi-Finals is indeed meritorious, the more so as their victories were all due to really good play, showing a class of football too often sadly lacking in the higher circles. Basel have fallen on evil days since they lost their famous trainer. The surprise of the Round undoubtedly is Locarno's win in Basel and the consequent elimination of the Cup-holders. Grasshoppers' advance was only what was expected, but Servette are living up to their title of Champions and took that stiff hurdle, Biel, with something to spare. Here are your two finalists if they steer clear of each other in the next draw. We just learn the pairings for the Semi-Finals: Grasshoppers v. Locarno, Montreux v. Servette. What about Servette for the Cup?

In a friendly match, the rejuvenated Bern, celebrating the 40th anniversary of their foundation, trounced their old rivals:—

Young Boys	1	Bern	4
------------	--------	------	--------

and one game in the NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Lugano	1	Concordia	0
--------	--------	-----------	--------

which puts Lugano out of the relegation danger zone.

FIRST LEAGUE CUP.

Racing	1	Friburg	0
Bödingen	4	Solothurn	1
Luzern	7	Cantonal	5

(after extra time)

and Aarau v. Grenchen and St. Gallen v. Juventus were postponed; probably they will draw lots again. What a farcical competition!
